Note 1: Survivor benefits have a slightly different maximum if the contributor dies in December of the preceding year, because the Unadjusted Pensionable Earnings (UPE) amount is escalated to the year of death and then escalated by the Consumer Price Index (CPI) for January of the following year.

Note 2: From 2019 on, the CPP death benefit has been a flat-rate amount of $2,500 for anyone who qualifies.

Note 3: From 2019 on, the maximum rates shown apply only to the base portion of the benefit, and do not include the "enhanced" portion. The enhanced portion is shown in the enhanced rate table.
